Comments on [REDACTED] Study,
International Connections of Venezuelan Communists

General: There is inconsistency in the text regarding the capitalization of Spanish names. For example, up to page 4 they are lower-case, and from there on the patronymic is sometimes capitalized, sometimes not.

Summary: p. 1, line 5: Although the word 'data' is sometimes used with a singular verb, we believe the plural would be better here.

p. 1, line 13: Suggest either "whatever the name under which..." or "under whatever name they may masquerade".

p. 2, line 1: Probably intended to be "It is true especially..."

p. 2, line 4: Again, preference would be for plural verb with 'data'.

Text: p. 1, line 14: Humbert-Droz, not Humberto Droz.

p. 2, line 7: [REDACTED]

p. 2, line 21: Omit comma after "complexions"
"Democratico" for "DemucratICO". ✓

p. 3, line 8 from bottom: underline "Fundamentos". ✓

p. 4, line 33: Source #12, if we remember correctly, was not very reliable.

p. 7, line 21: For Sivolou read Sivolov. ✓

p. 7, line 29: For Juan Pablo SANCHEZ Aguilar, read Juan Pablo SAINZ Aguilar. (Source is known to have been mistaken.)

p. 7, line 33: Nicanor ALVAREZ Rodriguez was name on passport used by Nilo Risquet de Jesus VALDEZ y Saldanas, generally known as Nilo VALDEZ. It is suggested that the name VALDEZ be used.
